

I came across this interesting article on honey bees. What had me stop in my tracks was this quote by Beekeeper Jerry Webb, " It [the hive] is a perfect society. You're either useful or you're dead";

How much of management theory is in part based on this premise? Just wondering....